Introduction

Introduction

The financial information contained in this report comes from municipal officials who filled out MMA’s fiscal survey mailed in November 2006. A copy of the survey is found in Appendix A. Two hundred (200) communities participated in the survey for a response rate of 41% (Table 1). Rates of participation were highest in the communities with populations between 3,500 and 9,999, and lowest in the most (10,000 + category) and least (under 1,000 category) populated communities.

Table 1
2007 Fiscal Survey – Response Rate

Population Group	# of Municipalities in Group	# of Municipalities in 2007 Fiscal Survey	Response Rate
10,000 +	20	7	35%
5,000 - 9,999	45	28	62%
3,500 - 4,999	37	24	65%
2,000 - 3,499	63	28	44%
1,000 - 1,999	115	47	41%
Under 1,000	209	66	32%
Total	489	200	41%

This year, 40 fewer communities participated in the fiscal survey. With the ever increasing number of surveys being mailed out to municipal officials by several different organizations, it is not surprising that municipal officials are becoming more selective in how to spend their survey response time. In 2008, municipal officials were asked to participate in the US Census Bureau’s fiscal survey, State Planning Office and MMA LD 1 surveys, and Department of Conservation heating fuel survey, just to mention a few.

That being said, it is important to note that the information collected in MMA’s fiscal survey has several important benefits. First, the information collected in the survey enables municipal officials, state officials and citizens to compare revenue and expenditure data in one community with other similarly situated communities. Second, the fiscal survey is an important advocacy tool for the Association. This data enables MMA's legislative staff to show state officials, the business community and others how municipalities collect and spend revenue.

In the future, the MMA fiscal survey will be replaced with a joint Federal/State annual survey of local government finances. The Maine Municipal Association, in conjunction with the State Planning Office and the US Census, is working on creating a single survey tool. This way, municipalities will be asked to annually complete one survey that combines both the fiscal and LD 1 elements of the several surveys currently issued by the three organizations. We hope that this consolidation of surveying efforts will make the process less time consuming for municipalities, simpler and generate more participation.

For the purpose of this report, the data is presented in two ways.

1. Population Group Averages and Statewide Estimates

Based on the information provided by the 200 municipalities participating in the 2007 fiscal survey, the first section of the report uses average revenue and expenditure data, calculated by population group, to estimate statewide revenues and expenditures. In order to calculate statewide revenues and expenditures, a three-step formula is used. First, average revenue and expenditure data is calculated for each population group. For the purposes of this report, municipalities were categorized into six different population groups: 1) over 10,000; 2) 5,000 – 9,999; 3) 3,500 – 4,999; 4) 2,000 – 3,499; 5) 1,000 – 1,999; and 6) under 1,000. Second, the average revenue or expenditure data is multiplied by the number of municipalities in each population group, which yields estimated group-wide revenue and expenditure totals. Third, all of the population group totals are summed to achieve an estimated statewide total.

For example, as illustrated in Table 2, using this methodology and the survey data provided we estimated that in 2007 municipalities received $117.8 million in state revenue sharing. According to the State Treasurer's data, in 2007 municipalities actually received $121.2 million in state revenue sharing.

2. Municipal Data

The information collected in the survey is also presented on a municipality-by-municipality basis and sorted by population categories. As you will note, this presentation differs from past fiscal survey reports. We decided to change the format to accommodate municipal officials' request. This format provides for a quick and easy way for municipal officials to see how their revenue and expenditure data compare with other communities.

We hope you find this information useful. If you have any suggestions on how to make the report better, please feel free to contact MMA's Kate Dufour at 1-800-452-8786 or kdufour@memun.org. Thank you for your ongoing interest in this important project.

Estimated Statewide Revenues and Expenditures

Revenue and Expenditure Overview. As shown in Table 3 and Table 4 below, in 2007 municipalities statewide collected $3.4 billion in revenues and spent nearly $3.4 billion to provide local services. Please note that the total state and municipal shares of K-12 education funding are reflected in both the revenue and expenditure categories. In 2007, it is estimated that municipalities spent $1.1 billion on K-12 education, while the state spent $856 million (not including state investments in teacher retirement) for a total state and municipal investment of nearly $2.0 billion.

Of the $3.4 billion in total municipal revenue, 65% ($2.2 billion) was generated by municipal sources, including the property tax, excise taxes, fees and interest. State revenues accounted for the second largest source of municipal revenue, generating an estimated $1.1 billion in revenue in 2007. Federal, surplus, reserve and trust fund revenue raised $106.9 million to fund municipal services in 2007.

As would be expected, funding for K-12 education, both the municipal and state shares, accounted for the largest expenditure at the local level. Public works expenditures, which include capital investments in local roads, accounted for the second largest expenditure at the local level.

Revenues

Municipal Revenues. Of the $2.2 billion in municipally generated revenue, property taxes accounted for the largest source (Table 5). In 2007, municipalities statewide collected $1.8 billion in property taxes, which accounted for 81% of all municipally generated revenues. The second largest source of municipal revenue was the excise taxes assessed on automobiles and watercraft. Of the $212 million collected in 2007, $210 million (99%) of those revenues were generated by the automobile excise tax.

Interest, fee and service fee revenue accounted for $145.7 million in revenue. Included in these categories are the interest collected on unpaid taxes, bank interest and investment income; license, permit and franchise fees, including licenses for hunting, fishing, marriages, clam and shellfish harvesting, building, weapons and burning permits; cable franchise fees and charges for photocopying and the use of municipal buildings, as well as the service fees assessed for sewer, water, solid waste and recreation services.

All other sources of revenues, not otherwise recorded in a specified category are included in the “other” category. In 2007, “other” sources generated $55.5 million in municipal revenue.

State Revenues. In 2007, municipalities received over $1 billion (Table 6) in state aid for a variety of different purposes, accounting for 32% of total revenue available to fund municipal services. The largest sources of state revenue included the state's share of K-12 education, not including investments in teacher retirement, ($856.2 million), revenue sharing ($117.8 million), homestead exemption reimbursements ($28.7 million) and local road assistance funding, known as the Urban/Rural Initiative Program ($25.3 million).

Other Revenues. In 2007, municipalities used $106.9 million (Table 7) in “other” source revenues to fund municipal services. Sources of “other revenues” included federal, surplus, and reserve/ trust fund revenue.

Expenditures

General Administration Expenditures. In 2007, municipalities spent $237.7 million (Table 8) for the general administration of municipal government, which includes expenditures for all employee benefits and insurance, as well as the cost of operating administrative offices (e.g., selectmen, councilors, manager, assessor, clerk, tax collector, treasurer, finance, planning, economic development, etc.). Expenditures for general administration costs accounted for 7% of total municipal spending.

The $124.7 million spent on general administration accounted for the largest expenditure source. The $87 million spent on employee benefits in 2007, which includes retirement, health/dental, unemployment and workers' compensations benefits, accounted for the second largest general administration expenditure. An additional $18.1 million was spent on insurance premiums for liability, property and casualty coverage.

Public Safety Expenditures. In 2007, municipalities spent $282.7 million (Table 9) on public safety services, including law enforcement, fire and emergency management services. Of the total expenditures, 94% of the costs were for the provision of services, while 6% was spent on capital investments, such as vehicle and equipment replacement. Expenditures for public safety services accounted for 8% of total municipal spending.

Although the provision of law enforcement services accounted for the largest public safety expenditures, 53% of those expenditures were generated in municipalities with populations over 10,000. Municipalities with populations under 1,000 accounted for only 3% of the total law enforcement expenditures. Expenditure for fire services was the second largest public safety expense for municipalities in 2007, with municipalities investing $104 million in fire protection. In comparison with the law enforcement services, municipalities with populations over 10,000 accounted for 48% of the total expenditures, while municipalities with populations under 1,000 accounted for 11% of total fire protection expenditures.

Road Expenditures. In 2007, municipalities spent $235.4 million (Table 10) to maintain and repair local roads. Of the total expenditures, nearly 75% of the costs were for the provision of services, while 25% was spent on capital investments. Expenditures for local roads accounted for 7% of total municipal spending.

Funding for local roads is an issue of interest for many lawmakers and the transportation industry. The biggest concern among these interest groups is the use of motor vehicle excise tax revenue to maintain local roads. Some transportation industry lobbyists claim that municipalities “use no more than 10% of the motor vehicle excise tax revenue collected” to fund local roads improvement and maintenance projects. The data collected in this report completely disputes that claim.

While some communities may collect more motor vehicle excise tax than their local road expenditures may require, when all municipalities are viewed in the aggregate, their spending on roads is almost exactly the sum of their motor vehicle excise tax receipts and state road assistance (URIP).

According to the information collected in the 2007 fiscal survey, municipalities statewide raised $210.4 million in motor vehicle excise tax revenue and spent $235.4 million on roads. Adding $25.3 million in state aid for local roads (Urban/Rural Initiative Program) to the motor vehicle excise tax revenue, the funds available to repair and maintain local roads increases to $235.8, which is just $400,000 over 2007 reported local road expenditures.

It's important to note that the expenditure figures reported in the survey address road maintenance and repairs only, and do not include other road related expenditures, such as law enforcement costs. Sixty-five (65%) percent of the cost of the Maine State Police budget is funded through the state's Highway Fund because the Department of Public Safety provides road related services to the state. The analysis in this survey does not follow the state model and attempt to identify public safety costs as "highway" costs.

Other Public Works Expenditures. In 2007, municipalities spent $188.6 million (Table 11) to provide non-road related public works services, including solid waste and recycling, water and sewer, and cemetery maintenance services. Of the total expenditures, 89% was for the provision of services, and 11% was spent on capital investments. Expenditures for non-road related public works expenditures accounted for 6% of total municipal spending.

Codes & Human Services Expenditures. In 2007, municipalities spent $35.6 million (Table 12) to provide code enforcement and human services, which accounted for 1% of total municipal spending. The cost of enforcing local and state codes, such as land use, zoning, and shoreland zoning, accounted for $12.9 million, the largest expenditure in this category. Expenditures under the General Assistance program accounted for the second largest expenditure, with $10.4 million being spent in 2007 to help qualifying residents. Contributions to social service agencies (i.e., domestic violence shelters, hospices, regional health clinics, food pantries, etc.), accounted for $6.2 million in this category.

Parks/Recreation and Library Expenditures. In 2007, municipalities spent $61.6 million (Table 13) to provide parks, recreation and library services. Of the total expenditures, 96% was for the provision of services, while 4% was spent on capital investments. Expenditures for parks, recreation and library services accounted for 2% of total expenditures.

Expenditures for park maintenance, recreation programs, community service programs, special events, celebrations, and snowmobile trails - all examples of services provided in this category - accounted for $35.6 million (58%) of spending in this category. In 2007, municipalities spent $23.4 million on library services.

County, School, Debt and All Other Expenditures. In 2007, municipalities spent $112.0 million (Table 14) to fund county government programs. This county assessment to the property taxpayers accounted for 6% of the total $1.8 billion in property tax collections. In comparison, the property taxpayers spent $1.1 billion, 62% of the total property tax revenues collected, to fund the local share of K-12 education. Based on the county and school property tax assessments, it appears that municipalities raised $565.1 million (32%) in property tax revenue to fund municipal programs, including overlay and Tax Increment Financing programs (TIF).

In 2007, municipalities statewide raised $95.4 million to retire debt. An additional $171.1 million was expended services and not otherwise reported in a specific category.
