Annual Convention Exhibiting

The MMA Annual Convention held in October, bringing together more than 800 municipal officials from 200 municipalities for two full days of workshops, seminars, discussions, meeting and visiting with exhibitors.

More than 120 providers of products, materials and services to local governments are exhibitors displaying public work and public safety equipment, computers, consulting services and much more.

Decision-making attendees include city and town managers, councilors and selectmen, public works directors, finance directors, town and city clerks and assessors from large, medium and small municipalities throughout Maine.

Maine municipal officials are inclined to visit with the exhibitors anyway, but just to make sure MMA offers inducements, including a grand door prize drawing and a variety of smaller prizes awarded during exhibit hours. Social and informational programs are also offered in the exhibit area.

The Association maintains a mailing list of prospective exhibitors. These firms will be contacted each year in June, providing them with preliminary information on the upcoming MMA Convention and an opportunity to contract for exhibit space.

For information on how your firm can cost-effectively meet with more than 800 Maine municipal officials from more than 200 Maine municipalities in a relaxed, pleasant setting at the MMA Annual Convention, please call or write:
